with a view to ensure that operation of the plant at that site can be considered adequately safe from the point of view of safety operating personnel, public and environment. After the power plant is authorised for full power operation on a continuing basis, it is proposed to undertake safety audit at an interval of about five years to ensure that the level of safety which was achieved at the time when it was authorised is maintained.

Availability of man-power for computers

403. CHOWDHRY HARI SINGH: Will the PRIME MINISTER be pleased to refer to answer to Unstarred Question 1796 given in the Rajya Sabha on 27th March, 1990 and state:

(a) whether adequate man-power is available in the country to meet the requirement of the increasing number of computers introduced in different fields; and

(b) what are the estimates of the man-power available as against its requirement?

THE MINISTER OF STATE IN THE MINISTRY OF DEFENCE (DR. RAJA RAMANNA): (a) While the man-power at lower/middle levels of competence in computers is adequate, there is a shortage of computer man-power at higher levels.

(b) The estimated man-power for computers now available in the country is 60,000 at degree/diploma levels. The estimated requirement during the year 1990 is 1,00,000 computer personnel at degree/diploma levels.
